The cutaway and vest effects are the two strongest style features. Coats are of various lengths. The favorite length, however, seems to be from 36 to 38 inches in the back. In addition to suits, our display of COATS and SILK DRESSES gives you a very good idea of the trend of the Fall styles. When you visit "The White House" next week to take advantage of the attractive reductions now being offered on all Summer garments, do not fail to see the Fall displays.

ALL IS QUIET AT CUMPA, IN SONORA

Bandits Have Been Whipped Out and Mines Are Operating—Five Rebels Killed in One Fight.
Cumpas, Sonora, July 24.—(By Mail).—Cumpas, in fact the whole district of Mococuma, has been blessed with good rains already this season and the farmers are planting a larger acreage than any year for a long time. The wheat harvest was a successful one. Now the farmers are planting corn and beans on the same land, thereby getting two crops a year off their land. Grass is fine and cattle and horses are fat and sleek. Lots of cattle buyers are in the country and the high price that they are paying for cattle here, thousands of head having been taken out in the last two years.

AMERICANS ARE HELD PRISONERS

This information was received through the state department at Washington Saturday morning at the offices of the Mines company in the Mills building. Biesel, McDonald and Harrell started for the El Paso and San Patricio mines in southern Chihuahua, going by way of Marfa and Ojinaga. They left here on July 16, with Harrell, who is a well known racing driver, in charge of the automobile.

Upon arriving at Santa Rosalia the three Americans were arrested by Orozco's rear guard and taken to Chihuahua. The first news of their arrest was brought here by W. L. Mayo, of East St. Louis, Mo., who arrived in El Paso Friday evening from Santa Rosalia.

The arrest of the Americans was taken up by the El Paso office with W. H. Aldridge, of 14 Wall street, New York, who is vice president of the Mines company of America. It was referred to secretary of state Bryan's office, in Washington, and telegrams of inquiry were sent at once to Chihuahua to American consul Marion Fletcher. A message from the New York office Saturday morning said that consul Fletcher had answered the telegrams of inquiry and was working for the release of the Americans.

Mrs. Biesel, wife of the mining man, is now at Cloudcroft, spending the summer. The purpose of the trip to Santa Rosalia and Santa Barbara was to bring out a number of Americans who were thought to be in the hands of the bandits there. The reason for their arrest is thought to have been because they obtained rebel permits at Ojinaga for the trip to Santa Barbara, as they did not intend to go into federal territory on the trip.

REBELS SHOW FRIENDSHIP AT C. P. DIAZ FOR AMERICANS

Denounce Anti-American Demonstration in Mexico City as Having Been Planned by Gen. Huerta.

C. P. Diaz, Mexico, July 24.—A pro-American demonstration, participated in by nearly 2000 supporters of Gov. Huerta, was held here last night. The demonstration was organized as a rebuke to provisional president Huerta, who was charged with fomenting the recent anti-American demonstration in Mexico City.

A large crowd gathered in front of the American consulate and listened to speeches in which leaders of the rebel party expressed friendship for Americans and gave assurances of protection to American lives and property. Seventeen hundred Mexicans signed a message addressed to President Wilson, in which they denounced the anti-American demonstrations in Mexico City and charged that they were organized by Huerta.

THREE CHARGED WITH THEFT.

Joe Cooper, Joe Hull and J. D. Calhoun were arrested here Friday by deputy sheriffs and lodged in the county jail on a charge of theft. The complaint was filed against them in the county court. It is alleged that the defendants took an anvil and two doors from a house at Tobin, Tex. The property, it is said, belonged to Frank R. Tobin.

At Work on Mezorial Figures.

Louis St. Gaudens, brother of the famous sculptor and an artist of rare promise himself, is now working on figures for the new union station in Washington, D. C. There are to be six allegorical figures, for which President Elliot of Cambridge has written the inscriptions. St. Gaudens lives in a remodeled Shaker meeting house at Cornish, N. H., built in 1795.

Educational Advancement.

The children at an Erith school were taken the other day to a traveling menagerie and circus in order to give them a practical lesson in natural history. Later on, we understand, they are to be taken to see a classical dancer in order to learn anatomy.—London Punch.

SHARROW OF INTEREST.

Some men are very interesting for a first interview, but after that they are exhausted and run out.—Charles Caleb Colton.

NO DRINKING IN CAMP

Villa is a strict disciplinarian, letters from his camp at La Encarnacion say. Villa allows no drinking in the ranks and has closed all of the saloons in the camp. He executed one of his own men last week, it is said, because he had stabbed another rebel soldier in a quarrel. The letter, which was received in El Paso Saturday, verified the execution of Jose Parra and his son, and also told of the killing of Terin, one of the bandit leaders in Casas Grandes, when Villa's men routed them.

SAYS VILLA HAS PLENTY OF AMMUNITION AND ALFAPIA

An American who came from Villa's camp Friday says that Villa is still at a friendly with plenty of pasture for his horses, an abundance of ammunition and sufficient food for an army twice the size of his present one. Some of them are wearing three and four belts of ammunition and there is a large quantity of it stored at the camp in Ascension, the American says. He says that the horses are driven to the alfalfa fields in the Mormon colonies near Ascension, and are brought back loaded with alfalfa.

REFUGEES AT GALVESTON.

Galveston, Tex., July 24.—One hundred and eighty-five American refugees arrived here last night on board the steamship Texas from Veracruz and San Antonio. They will be held in quarantine until July 29.

Unusual Feat in Architecture

A one-story house converted into a two-story house by Pringle & Crawford. The house was occupied during entire time of construction. This job was said to be a difficult one, but Pringle & Crawford raised the roof, added another story, saved the occupants $50 a month in rent and $500 on the job. Those who are interested are asked to go out and inspect this house, at 1609 Boulevard, phone 484.—Advertisement.

Because he is alleged to have said that a picture of the mother of Mrs. Sara Eastburn, living at Fourth and Campbell, would look nice hanging in a saloon, Henry Elton was fined $1 and costs on a charge of disturbing the peace by justice of the peace E. H. McClintock Friday afternoon. The defendant pleaded guilty to the charge.

Elton is engaged in securing orders for crayon portraits enlarged from the original. He obtained the picture of Mrs. Eastburn's mother. Friday he went to deliver the crayon made from it. Mrs. Eastburn, it is said, refused to accept the picture, saying that it did not look like her mother. She said Elton then made the remark that if she did not like it, it would look nice hanging in a saloon.

EXPLODING DYNAMITE FAILS TO RAISE BODY

Exploding dynamite for two days has failed to raise the body of Santos Frias, aged 20 years, who was drowned Thursday at noon while swimming in the reservoir of the Southwestern Portland Cement company at the smelter. Frias at the time was swimming in the pool alone and was about 100 feet from shore when he went down. The supposition is that he was seized with cramps. There were four Mexicans standing on the edge of the reservoir who saw the boy go down. After going down, the first time Frias never rose again. The water at the point where Frias disappeared is 18 feet deep.

The drowned boy, it is said, was an expert swimmer. He lived in the smelter precinct with an uncle, the only known surviving relative.

MAY WINTER CIRCUUS HERE.

Al. G. Barnes has written the local chamber of commerce, asking what inducements can be offered him for wintering his wild animal circus here. The matter will be taken up at the next meeting of the board of directors. For the past two seasons the circus has been wintering at Venice, Calif.

Mrs. E. D. Scott, who has been here for a few days visiting her husband, Capt. E. D. Scott, of battery C, sixth field artillery, stationed at Fort Bliss, returned to Fort Riley, Kan., Friday afternoon.

"A DEPLORABLE MISTAKE"

(From New York World.)

It is of course obvious that Mr. Bryan's explanation of his money making lecture plans readily explains what can not be readily excused.

He says that he is going to limit his profits to his vacation. The last thing he should be thinking about at this time is a vacation.

The Mexican crisis alone makes any talk of a vacation little short of an insult to his office.

We earnestly believe that when the present administration reversed the former policy of dollar diplomacy and substituted the diplomacy of minding our own business in international affairs it was a splendid reform.

But this policy of hands off illegitimate diplomatic problems should make it all the more essential for the State Department to devote a full measure of time and attention to legitimate diplomatic problems. Otherwise there may arise grave doubts in the public mind as to where a policy of conviction ends and where a policy of compromise begins.

As for Mr. Bryan's financial sacrifices, they constitute a question which should have interested Mr. Bryan before he accepted the portfolio of State and which cannot be expected to interest the public now.

That the public has a right to take the same view that Thomas Jefferson did in his letter to Richard Henry Lee, which Mr. Bryan possibly remembers, in which he said:

"In a virtuous government, and more especially in times like these, public officers are what they should be, but then to those appointed to them, which it would be wrong to decline, though foreman to bring with them intense labor and great private loss."
